Realignment Study
Connecting the Colorado River Communities

The data collection plan will define trip patterns to ensure SR 95 serves regional traffic.

Involvement from the local communities will be included with this study to ensure consensus.

The purpose of the alignment study is to consider an access-controlled highway.

Existing Land use limits the opportunities to widen the existing corridor.

Various corridors will be considered.

An access controlled facility will help preserve area resources.

The vision is to extend SR 95 north from I-40.
